THE NIGHT SKY- 4TH QUARTER 2012

Mercury: one of the fainter of the planets, Mercury can be viewed on the western horizon just after sunset through much of October. Look to the west after sunset on October 5th to see Mercury in conjunction with Saturn. By mid-November, Mercury enters conjunction with the Sun and on his way to becoming a morning star for the remainder of the year. The Moon will conjunct and occult Mercury on October 16th, November 14th, and December 11th.

Venus: the second-brightest object in the night skies after the Moon, Venus will remain as a morning star throughout the 4th Quarter of 2012. The Moon can be seen in conjunction with Venus in the early morning hours of October 12th and 13th, November 11th and 12th, and again on December 11th and 12th.

Mars: the red planet looms in the western skies after sunset throughout the 4th Quarter of 2012. Look for a conjunction of the Moon and Mars the evening of October 17th and 18th, November 15th and 16th, and again on December 14th and 15th.

Jupiter: begins rising around 10:30 p.m. at the start of the 4th Quarter. By New Year's Eve Jupiter will be visible in the east at sunset. The Moon conjuncts Jupiter on October 4th, 5th, and 31, November 1st, and on November 28th the Full Moon will conjunct and occult Jupiter. The final conjunction of the Moon and Jupiter for 2012, will be on December 24th and 25th.

Saturn: hangs low in the fall sky at sunset at the beginning of October. By October 25th Saturn is in conjunction with the Sun and will reemerge as a morning star and by mid-November be viewed with Venus on the eastern horizon in the pre-dawn hours. During the last 10 days of November and in to early December, Saturn and Venus will be in conjunction in the early morning sky. The conjunction of the Moon and Saturn in October and November coincides with the New Moon making it difficult to see. However on December 10th—12th, early-risers will be treated to a conjunction of the waning crescent Moon with Saturn, Venus, and Mercury, just before sunrise.

Meteor Showers: The Orionid meteors will be at their peak on October 21st and the Geminid meteors on December 13th—14th.

The 2013 Church of Light Convention, "The Alchemist's Laboratory: Transforming Your Everyday Life" will be held June 21-23, 2013, in Albuquerque, New Mexico. This fun-filled and informative convention includes preconference tours, a preconference intensive, and two full days of speakers focusing on the captivating topic of Alchemy. You will discover how you can unlock its ancient secrets and apply them in transforming your life.

For those of you who are planning to make New Mexico your vacation destination, we have planned two exciting day trips. On Wednesday, June 19, 2013, we will be taking a scenic train ride on the Rail Runner from Albuquerque to Santa Fe where we will visit museums galleries, historic sites and have lunch. Thursday, June 20, 2013, is not for the faint of heart, as we will travel to the top of Sandia Crest aboard the Sandia Peak Tramway where we will enjoy lunch at the High Finance restaurant and hike Alpine meadows.

Stellarians know how to have a good time, and no conference is complete without a party. Saturday night's Awards Banquet will be followed by a "Hogwart's Reunion Costume Ball". This will be a night to remember. For 2013 we will feature an amazing evening of entertainment with Clan Tynker, a magical local performing troop.

The incredibly low registration fee of $175 includes both days of workshops, lunch buffet for Saturday and Sunday, the Initiations, Friday night's reception, and the Awards Banquet. Single day attendance is available for $100. Additional guests who are not attending the convention can join you at the Awards Banquet for $40.

The Best Western Rio Grande Inn has graciously offered our attendees the same discounted room rate of $89 plus tax per night that was offered in 2011. Our special group rate is also valid three days prior and two days after our event for those who would like an extended stay in New Mexico. To make your hotel reservations, call 1.800.959.4726 or, locally, 505.843.9500.

When making your hotel reservation, please identify yourself as a member of The Church of Light in order to receive our group discount.
